BRIDGE GOES DOWN

Eighty-Four Workmen Meet Death Beneath the Waves.

MEN WERE CAUGHT IN TRAP

Section of New Bridge in Course of Construction Across the St. Lawrence River, Near Quebec, Goes Down.

Quebec, Aug. 31.—A section of the new bridge across the St. Lawrence river, five miles below the city, collapsed Thursday, carrying scores of workers and mechanics into the water. It is estimated that the loss of life is at least sixty, and many estimates exceed that number by twenty.

The bridge was about a mile and a half in length, and half of it, from the south shore to midstream, was crumpled up and thrown into the waters below.

Ninety men were at work on this section of the structure, and the whistle had just blown at 5:30 for the men to quit work for the day when they heard a grinding sound from the bridge midsream.

"The Bridge is Falling!"

The men turned to see what had happened, and an instant later the cry went up, "The bridge is falling!" The men made a rush shoreward but the distance was too great for them to escape.

The fallen section of the bridge dragged other after it, the snapping girders and cables sounding like the crash of cannon, and frightening the workmen as they sped forward. Only a few of them reached safety before the last piece of iron on the south shore was dragged into the river.

Steamer Lowers Boats.

The steamer Glenmont had just cleared the bridge when the first section fell. The water thrown up by the debris came clear over the bridge of the steamer. The captain at once lowered boats. The small boats plied back and forth over the sunken wreckage for half an hour, but there was no sign of life. The twisted iron and steel had its victims in a terrible death grasp. A few floating and broken strands of the bridge towards the north shore were the only signs that anything unusual had happened.

All the men drowned were employees of the Phoenixville Bridge company and sub-contractors of Quebec and Montreal.

The Quebec bridge was begun seven years ago, and it was to be finished in 1909. Subsidies had been granted by the federal and provincial governments and the city of Quebec, and the estimated cost of the work was $10,000,000.

Searching for Victims.

Quebec, Aug. 31.—With the first break of dawn half a dozen government and Quebec Bridge company tugs began a search of the St. Lawrence river for the victims of Thursday night's catastrophe.

The total deaths caused by the collapse of the great cantilever bridge numbers at least 75, and may reach 85.

Up to an early hour Friday morning less than twenty bodies had been recovered. The terrific drop of the great steel structure from 180 feet above the surface of the river crushed the bodies of many workmen in a frightful manner and it is feared that many of them will never be found.

Many of the dead and missing are Americans brought here by the Phoenix Bridge company of Phoenixville, Pa., which had the contract for the iron work on the bridge.

Both the local and the Dominion authorities have taken steps to investigate the cause of the disaster, and, if possible, fix the responsibility.

Some of the workmen expressed the belief that the anchor pier gave way under the tremendous strain of the overhanging steel work.

M. P. Davis, of Ottawa, the contractor who built the piers, made a hasty examination, however, and reported them to be in good condition, although the steel superstructure had fallen upon them.

Engine Went into River.

A locomotive and several freight cars loaded with steel girders were moving out upon the bridge just before the structure collapsed. Engineer Jess, who was on the locomotive, went into the river with his engine, but was picked up 300 feet below the bridge. Fireman Davis perished.

ARREST MAY FOLLOW.

Investigation of Death of Beautiful Kentucky Girl.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 31.—Miss Laura Schumate, a member of a prominent and highly respected family of Oklahoma Station, died under mysterious circumstances at the City Hospital and members of the family are conducting an investigation, with the aid of the police. An examination, it is said, revealed that Miss Schumate had been the victim of an operation prior to being brought to the hopital.

It is said that the brothers of Miss Schumate will ask for the arrest of a prominent young man now located in Birmingham, Ala. The young woman first came to Louisville five weeks ago, it is said, with a man who represented himself as her uncle.

On August 23 she was removed to the hospital, but made no statement to the authorities regarding her true condition.

Miss Schumate was a brunette of unusual beautyy, and, while it is said she was little more than a child in years, the death report gave her age as twenty-one.

FIGHT ON BOND ISSUE.

Jackson Citizens May Be Plunged in Litigation with City Council.

Jackson, Ga., Aug. 31.—The citizens of Jackson are about to be plunged into litigation with the present city administration. A letter has been sent to the mayor and council in which they are asked ertain direct questions regardlug water bonds, electric light bonds and city debt. This communication is being distributed on the streets for use of voters.

On al hands it is heard that unless the present city officials give an account of their actions and doings and a showing of the money passing through their hands a bill for discovery will be filed on the part of the citizens in the superior court of Butts county. The officials are J. B. Wall, mayor; J. H. Carmichael, S. O. Horn, C. R. Gresham and J. R. Carmichael, councilmen.

The election for an additional bond issue to raise $10,000 will occur Sept. 7 next. Things are at fever heat and criminal actions are talked of freely.

SINKING FOR TWO CENTURIES.

Henry St. Paul's Cathedral is Said To Be in Danger.

London, Aug. 31.—The committee of architects which was appointed to inquire into the condition of St. Paul's Cathedral has issued a report which declares that while the catnedral is in no immediate danger, elaborate precautions are necessary to preserve it from disaster.

The cathedral has been sinking for two centuries, and the expert committee recommends that the condition of the subsoil and the street water level be periodically recorded, as there lie the chief possibilities of future danger. It is added that attention should be given to all building operations in the neighborhood, or michief of a serious nature may arsie. The committee recommends that the large amount of structural work required in repairing the fabric be proceeded with at once.

Parents Selling Their Children.

London, Aug. 31.—A Rome dispatch brings a story of an attempt to sell children in the market at Avellino. A peasant and his wife brought two of their children, twins, four months old, and in open market offered to sell them for $40 each. The babies were plump and healthy and were bought by a man who offered the price required. He was taking the children away when the police stopped in and arrested both buyers and sellers.

GREAT ACTOR IS DEAD

Final Curtain Rung Down For Richard Mansfield.

FOREMOST AMERICAN ACTOR

Death Was Due to a Complication of Troubles—During Last Moments He Was In Condition of Coma, and Did Not Recognize His Family.

New London, Conn., Aug. 30.—Richard Mansfield, the best known actor on the American stage, passed away Friday morning at his summer residence, Seven Oaks, Ocean avenue. Death was directly due to disease of the liver, aggravated by complications.

Dr. A. H. Allen, a local physician, who has been in charge since Mr. Mansfield's arrival here from Saranac Lake, N. Y., states that death was not entirely unexpected, although this fact had not been made public.

Mr. Mansfield's condition had been reported as being excellent. It was stated that he stood the journey well from Saranac Lake and that he was up and around the house here until three days ago. Then a turn for the worse set in and Mr. Mansfield was confined to his room. On Thursday Dr. McClellan, of Pittsburg, was summoned. Dr. Allen said Friday that he had feared the wrost for several days.

During the great actor's last moments he was lying in a condition of coma and did not recognize loved ones at his bedside. There were present at the time of his death his wife, his brother, Felix, his young son, Gibbs, and the physicians and nurses.

Sketch of His Life.

Richard Mansfield was born on the little island of Heligoland on May 24, 1857. His mother was Mme. Mansfield Rudersdorf, a famous prima donna, and it was from her that Mansfield inherited his love for the arts. The actor studied at several schools on the continent, and went to England to study art in the South Kensington Museum, London.

The young artist made a precarious living painting pictures, and many times his only meal in those early days in London, was a hot potato bought from a street peddler.

Mansfield turned his whole artistic bent to the study of the stage and waited for an opportunity to show what he could do.

Several years were spent playing small parts in towns of the English provinces, and then Mansfield came to this country, where his first appearance was made in Lee Manteaux Norris at the Standard theater. Later he played the part of Nick Vedder in "Rip Van Winkle."

Mansfield's genius had so far failed to make itself manifest to his associates, but in 1883 his opportunity came when A. M. Palmer put on the "Parisian Romance." In this play his success began.

MAY SURVIVE WOUNDS.

Though Shot Through Upper Part of Brain, Man May Live.

Columbus, Ga., Aug. 31—Although shot squarely through the brain, it now looks as if W. J. Vaughn, who was wounded last week by Marshal W. H. Spier, of Phenix City, will recover from his injury.

When he was carried to the hospital the attending physician said that the wound was mortal, and his death was expected in a few hours.

The next day Vaughn began to improve, however, and it appears as if he will get well.

The bullet entered the forehead and ranged through the upper part of the brain, coming out at the back of the head. The hole made by the big bullet at the front of the head was so large that a finger could be pushed into it.

Relatives Seeking Lost Man.

New York, Aug. 31.—Seward Heidelbach, wealthy Cincinnati manufacturer of ladies' wear, and cousin of Alfred Heidelbach, of Heidelbach, Ickelheimer & Co., bankers of New York and Cincinnati, is missing, and his friends and relatives fear that his mind is seriously affected. Mr. Heidelbach disapeared shortly after noon on Monday, after taking luncheon with his brother, Albert Heidelbach, formerly of the big white goods wholesale firm of Well & Heidelbach. They were in the Cafe Savarin in the Equitable Life building, on Broadway, when Seward was lost. It is not believed he committed suicide.

BODY IDENTIFIED.

Not Believed Consul for the Netherlands Suicided.

St. Louis, Aug. 31.—The dead body of a man 76 years of age taken from the river Wednesday was identified at the morgue by Albert R. Haagama, as that of his father, Broer B. Haagama, consul in St. Louis for the Netherlands.

The son declared he did not believe his father had committed suicide, but expressed the belief that death was accidental.

Consul Haagama disappeared mysteriously last month. He came to St. Louis in 1856 and became a leader in Holland-American circles in this city. Finally he was appointed consul representing his country, and his commission bears the signature of President Lincoln in ratification of his appointment.

KING EDWARD SHOCKED.

Leaves Theater as Protest Against Scandalous Performance.

Mari Enbad, Aug. 31.—King Edward has administered a rebuke to the singing of indelicate songs in places of public amusement and his action, which was taken publicly, has created intense excitement in Mariebad. His majesty entered the ebautant Thursday night and after listening to one or two items on the program he walked out as a protest against the scandalous nature of the performance. His majesty was followed by the Duke of Trek and other members of his suite and all the Americans and Englishmen present.

"This is horrible; appalling," said the king to a member of his entourage, and the accuracy of his discipline of the performance is admitted on every side.

Convicts Saw to Liberty.

Joliet, Ill., Aug. 31.—Edward Quinn and Harry Hannen, two convicts at the state penitentiary, made a sensational escape from prison and are still at large. Quinn, said to be one of the most expert safe blowers in the country, was serving a twenty-year sentence for burglary. He had eight years to serve. Hannen was in for burglary under an indeterminate sentence. The men were nurses in the hospital and sawed through the bars of a hospital window, dropped into the prison yard, and with an iron hook and rope made from sheets, scaled the walls.

Will on Back of a Check.

Washington, Pa., Aug. 31.—The shortest will ever filed for record in Washington county has just been probated. It was that of Hugh Hallam, who died a few days ago. The instrument contained just twenty-two words, and was written on the back of a blank check. It was dated 1899, and had been neatly folded and placed in Mr. Hallam's vest pocket. It was not found until last week. It contained a single sentence, which conveyed all his property to his wife.

Aeronaut's Narrow Escape.

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 31.—The Knab Enshue airship, piloted by Gail Rosbinson, took flight from the exhibition grounds Thursday during a gale. It sailed for half a mile in the direction of the city hall tower, when something gave way and the airship landed on the cupola of a schoolhouse, leaving its pilot in a perilous position. Robinson and the airship were rescued with the help of ropes.

Protect a Negro In The Tallahassee Jail.

LED A GEORGIA OFFICER

Deputy Flees to Tallahassee and Gives Himself Up—The Tragedy Occurred at Meacham Gap, a Settlement Not Far From State Capital.

Tallahassee, Aug. 29.—The Bloxham guards were called out last night upon the call of Sheriff Hopkins, to protect the jail incarcerating the person of Simms, a negro, who came here today and surrendered, stating that he had killed the deputy sheriff from Cairo, Ga.

The negro went first to the office of Sheriff Hodges, stating that the sheriff and posse had assaulted him and were while searching for Charley Williams, another negro, who the sheriff of the Georgia town in which Cairo is located. Williams was not located, but it is said that he was concealed at the home of Simms after the posse were escaped and he gave himself up to prevent. He was placed in jail and the military ordered out.

The deputy left early yesterday morning in an automobile, going to Thomasville Ga., eighteen miles from Tallahassee, near the state line, where the killing occurred. They were on his way to surrender when they met the military on the road who were on their way to arrest the negro.

It seems to be a state of excitement and it is feared that a mob is forming to take the negro.

Deputy Sheriff Tompkins, of Cairo, who was shot through the breast with a rifle and pistol by Calvin Simms, a negro, died near Meacham, fifteen miles south of here. Simms went to Tallahassee and surrendered to the officers, where he is now in the county jail there. He is an educated Negro, who killed Deputy Tompkins, of Grady county, on the streets of Cairo that time Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock.

Simms was at the head of a posse of officers and citizens. They located Simms at his home, battered down the door and were greeted by the negro with the deputy sheriff's life. Simms had recently made his home in Cairo in place of J. A. Dean, who was killed in discharge of his duty in the month. His death is the third Cairo officer shot by negroes in many months, inflaming the people to a dangerous degree."

Citra Train Was Late.

Owing to the fact that the engine "balked," the Citra train for High Springs, due to leave here at 11:40 a. m. daily, did not arrive until ten minutes of 3 o'clock Friday. This delay created considerable inconvenience on the part of those who intended going up the road for a short trip, as the train was detained at High Springs, and it was a late hour Friday night when the train returned on its trip to Citra.

It was one of the best meetings ever held in High Springs, immense congregations being present every night. There were thirteen additions to the church, and on the last night of the meeting the beautiful baptismal service was held in the church.

A very sad death occurred here on August 24. Mrs. Sam Neal, after an illness of a few weeks, passed to her heavenly home, leaving a husband and eight children to mourn her loss. She was a most devoted wife and mother, a noble Christian woman, and beloved by all who knew her. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. G. R. Thompson in the Presbyterian church.

FIRE AT WINDSOR.

Home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, With Contents, Burned to the Ground.

Windsor, Aug. 29.—About 1:30 this morning the people of Windsor were aroused by the alarm of fire. They quickly gathered and found the house, recently bought by H. Spiva from Mrs. Finkles, and occupied by F. Thomas and family, all in a blaze.

The neighbors succeeded in saving the barn and out-buildings, but the house and furniture were a total loss.

Mrs. Thomas was first awakened by the chickens making a noise and on looking out of the window saw fire creeping up the outside of the kitchen. She awakened her husband, and he went out at once and tried to extinguish the fire. Mrs. Thomas assisted, but despite their efforts the whole house was soon in a blaze, and it quickly burned to the ground.

A NEW OPERA HOUSE.

Louis Kalbfield of Palatka Wants to Include Gainesville in Circuit.

Louis Kalbfield of Palatka, an old minstrel man who was at the head of the famous Kalbfield Minstrels for many years as proprietor and manager, has at last settled down in Palatka, as he believes Florida is 'the greatest State in the Union and the best country on earth.

Mr. Kalbfield selected Palatka as his choice of the Florida cities. He married a Palatka lady, invested his money there, and is a Palatkan in every sense of the word, which naturally means a good fellow. Since his residence there he has assumed the management of the Arlington and Graham hotels, two of the most popular hostelries in the State, and has also used his influence in having erected the new Howell Theater, one of the most up-to-date play-houses of the small cities of the State, which he has also leased.

Mr. Kalbfield is very anxious to establish what is known in theatrical circles as a circuit in Florida, and has included Gainesville on this circuit. He feels sure that, with a well-fitted opera house, Gainesville would make an ideal opera resort, and is willing to place his share of the expense toward building and equipping a first-class place of this nature, which would attract the better class of talent to Gainesville.

"Gainesville is becoming quite a little city," says Mr. Kalbfield in a letter to The Sun. "We all recognize that fact, because we all know that Gainesville is 'growing like a jimson weed.' There is no reason why the people of your good town should not enjoy the advantages of the best theatrical attractions traveling, and you would get the attractions which go to Jacksonville and St. Augustine if you would only give the players a place to play in."

A. C. L. IMPROVEMENTS.

Depot Will Be Repainted, and Other Improvements Will Be Made.

There is something going to happen to the passenger and freight depot of the Atlantic Coast Line soon, which will mean a great deal to the appearance of things in that section.

The Atlantic Coast Line has actually decided to paint the building which is occupied by that road as a freight and passenger station. This is no joke. The company has opened its heart and its pocketbook for this expense, and not only that, they have agreed to erect a shed around two sides of the building.

If the Atlantic Coast Line would furnish necessary accommodations for ladies, these accommodations would be doubly appreciated by the traveling public.

During the vacation the University swimming pool seems to be a popular place with the boys and young men of the city.

This pool, which is really Green sink, has been thoroughly cleaned by the University boys. They have also installed spring boards and other modern conveniences, and altogether this sink has been made a modern issue in bathing.

While the University is closed, which is the principal swimming season, the boys of the city congregate there in great crowds, especially on Sundays, and the fun they have is something enormous.

A LIVELY CHASE.

Lem Hutchinson Made Things Interesting for Another Burley Negro.

There was an exciting chase for several blocks between Lem Hutchinson, a well-known negro of this city, and another negro, Thursday morning, the trouble arising over the loan of $5 on a watch, Hutchinson making the loan.

It appeared that the negro, the name of whom could not be learned, went to Hutchinson on Wednesday and borrowed $5, pawning a watch for security. On the following day the negro came back to Hutchinson and wanted more money on the watch, which Hutchinson, who was acting in the capacity of a pawn broker, refused to give. He asked Hutchinson to show him the watch, and when he got it into his hands made a hasty retreat.

Hutchinson made an effort to catch the man, and chased him for several blocks, but just as the High Springs train was pulling out he jumped aboard the rear car and was taken away, waiving defiance at Hutchinson with one hand, while his watch was in the other.

CLERK-CARRIERS' EXAMINATION.

Will Be Held in Gainesville on Saturday, September 21.

The United States civil service commission announces by circular that an examination for clerk-carrier of the local postoffice will be held in this city on Saturday, September 21.

This examination will comprise simple examinations in spelling, arithmetic, letter writing, penmanship, copying, geography and reading addresses. This will afford an excellent opportunity to young white men, who have so far failed to appreciate the same in Gainesville, judging from the number of examinations which have been held here, and the number of applicants. The position pays for the first year $600, for the second year $800, and for the third year $900, continuing at that salary for the present.

Those desiring application blanks and other particulars may apply to E. Paul Brown, the local secretary, at the United States land office.

JUDGE MASON'S COURT.

Negro Arraigned Upon Charge of Selling Liquor Went to Jail.

Deputy Sheriff L. T. Stringer of Bell is a shrewd officer, and is always on the lookout for offenders of the law.

Officer Stringer made a good "haul" Wednesday night, when he arrested Ezekial Young, colored, for selling liquor contrary to the laws of the county.

Officer Stringer brought the negro to this city. He was arraigned before County Judge Mason, who required him to give a bond of $250 for his appearance at the next term of the circuit court. Failing to give this bond, he was sent to jail.

ADVENT CONFERENCE.

Closed Friday Night, After Successful Session of Three Days.

After a successful and very beneficial session of three days, the Quarterly Conference of the Advent Christian Church of Florida and South Georgia, which was held with the church in this city, closed Friday evening, the closing sermon being delivered by Elder H. V. Skipper of Jasper.

The conference has been well attended, considering the fact that the church is new in this State. The meetings were all well attended, the little church on East Main street N. having been filled at every service.

On Thursday evening Elder B. A. L. Bixler of Lake City was ordained, the ordaining officers being Elders H. V. Skipper, J. T. Butler and G. I. Wiggins, with Elder O. T. Maddox presiding. Elder Bixler came from Illinois, but has been assigned to the Lake City church.

Many thanks are due Elder James Lee of the local church for the attention and courtesies extended the visitors. Elder Lee is a very popular man among the members of his congregation and others who have the pleasure of knowing him.

MR. MIXSON'S EXPERIENCE.

Killed a Big Wild Cat While Hunting in Kincaid's Hammock.

While hunting with two or three companions in Kincaid's hammock Friday morning, Guy Mixson came face to face with a hard "proposition" in the nature of an enormous wild cat.

His catship at once showed fight, but Mr. Mixson, with remarkable coolness, levelled his gun and fired, and the cat lay dead at his feet.

The cat was on exhibition at Harrold's market Friday.

Tyner as a Composer.

We have received from Geo. S. Tyner, Tampa, a copy of his latest ragtime, "Make a Noise Like Money," which has already made quite a hit wherever it has been introduced, Tampa especially.

Mr. Tyner is an old Gainesville boy, and his friends will be glad to learn that he is making quite a success as a composer. All his productions are catchy and up-to-date, and he has made a success of every song he has written, among them being, "I Don't Want to Be No Culled Soldier," "Stop That Rush of Language From Your Face," and "What's the Use of Walking When You Can Ride?"

Lame Back.

This is an ailment for which Chamberlain's Pain Balm has proved especially valuable. In almost every instance it affords prompt and permanent relief. Mr. Luke LaGrange of Orange, Mich., says of it: "After using a plaster and other remedies for three weeks for a bad lame back, I purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and two applications effected a cure." For sale by all druggists.

HONOR TO GAINESVILLE GIRL.

Was Entertained in Novel Way by Her Cousin in Meridian, Miss.

Miss Camille McBeath entertained at a novel Japanese party on yesterday afternoon in honor of her cousin Miss Camille McBeath of Gainesville, Fla. The handsome home of the hostess was beautifully decorated with Japanese umbrellas, fans and the blossoms that are typical of the Flowery Kingdom. Fragrant incense was burnt all over the home in quaint jars, and the Japanese game of nikco was played, the score being kept on hand-painted cards with different designs, carrying out the Japanese idea. Miss Ruth Hamm won the first prize, a beautiful silk kimona. She presented it to the honoree, Miss Omeria McBeath. The consolation was decided by drawing tiny Japanese fans from a basket. On each fan a tiny ribbon bow was tied, and the one drawing the yellow ribbon won the consolation, a Japanese kimona. Miss Bessie George was the lucky one and she presented it to Miss Franz of Jackson.

Mesdames R. A. Collins, J. W. Stafford, John F. McBeath and W. M. Baker assisted the hostess and her mother in entertaining the guests and serving the refreshments of cream decorated with cherries, accompanied with cake. Miss Carrie Clyde Cozine acted as tea girl and served a delightful ice tea.—Meridian (Miss.) Morning Dispatch.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

Interesting Meeting of the Board Was Held Wednesday Evening.

An interesting meeting of the Board of Public Works was held Wednesday evening at the office of Col. W. W. Hampton. There were present the only three members of the board in the city, Messrs J. H. Vidal, E. J. Baird and H. E. Taylor.

This meeting was held for the purpose of receiving the final estimate on the sidewalk, curb and gutter on Church and Mechanic streets, also to receive the bids for grading of East Main street, which is soon to be paved.

There was only one bid for the grading of East Main street, that bid being made by O. Petre, who also has the contract for paving. There was no action taken in the matter, but it is surmised that the contract will be let to Mr. Petre, the bid being a reasonable one.

S. S. S. KILLS THE GERMS OF SCROFULA

Through the blood, diseases are carried from one generation to another. Parents transmit them to their children, and so it goes on down the family line for years and years unless the taint is removed from the blood. Especially is this true of Scrofula, for it is a disease that is "bred in the bone," and unless the blood is purified and every trace of the trouble removed the miserable disease will finally undermine the entire health and wreck the life of its victim. The usual symptoms of Scrofula are enlarged glands or tumors about the neck, which often burst and become discharging ulcers, weak eyes, Catarrh of the head and throat, skin diseases, etc. The trouble being so firmly intrenched in the blood often attacks the bones, resulting in White Swelling, or hip disease, while a waxy, pallid appearance of the skin, loss of strength and energy, and often lung affections, show that the disease is entirely destroying the bright red corpuscles and rich, nutritive qualities of the blood. Scrofula being a constitutional disease, one affecting the entire circulation, must be treated with a remedy that builds up and strengthens every part of the system, which has so long been denied the strength and nourishment it should have received from the blood. S. S. S. is the best of all blood purifiers and the greatest of all tonics, and is the ideal remedy for Scrofula. S. S. S. searches out and destroys all poisonous taints and poisons, gives strength, richness and vigor to the blood and cures Scrofula permanently. It so thoroughly removes the trouble from the blood that no signs of it are ever seen again, and posterity is started out with a clean, pure blood supply, which is their rightful inheritance. S. S. S., while thorough, is gentle in its action, and the healing vegetable properties which compose it build up every part of the system. Book on Blood and medical advice free. COUNTY SCHOOL FINANCES.

The annual statement of the financial condition of the Alachua county public school fund, which is published in today's Sun, is a most excellent showing and reflects great credit upon Dr. J. L. Kelley, the efficient superintendent, and the school board.

When Dr. Kelley was a candidate for superintendent he promised, if elected, to exercise every effort toward reducing the county school debt, which then amounted to about $78,000. At the close of business for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1905, the net indebtedness of the school board amounted to $44,703.05, whereas the statement for the year ending June 30, 1907, shows a net indebtedness of only $20,507.08. Since the latter date school warrants have been issued amounting to $3,535.45, but cash has been converted into the fund during the same period sufficient to reduce the net debt at the present date to $18,365.29. Since Dr. Kelley's induction into office the school debt has been thus reduced notwithstanding the fact that the school board has spent during the same period $17,000 for school buildings, and made two exhibits at the State fair which cost about $1,000, besides being compelled to pay over $8,000 on account of interest and discount. Expenses will be somewhat heavier the coming year, but as the board will have to pay very little for interest from now on, the people will be pleased to learn that the prospects are that the financial statement for the year ending June 30, 1908, will show the county school debt entirely liquidated.

The public has just cause to congratulate Dr. Kelley and the school board upon the excellent condition of the school finances. Hon R. B. Wesin, chairman of the board, has been an able co-worker with Superintendent Kelley during the past two and a half years. The other members of the board, Messrs. Brooker and Futch, only assumed office last January, but they are proving efficient and careful public servants.

The people like a public official who does things, and as county superintendent Dr. Kelley has done things in a most admirable manner.

WHO WILL PAY THE FREIGHT?

There is a singular unanimity of opinion in every Republican leader from a Southern State that visits Washington. They are all for Roosevelt, or whoever he selects. As about all the Republican leaders in the South are Federal officials, whether of the white or black-and-tan variety, they evidently feel inseparably bound up with the administration and have sworn fealty to the particular Republican baron who lords it over them, and he, of course, whether it is Taft or Cortelyou, or other department chiefs, are faithful retainers of their liege lord, the President. Thus can party feudalism be perpetuated. It would seem that the Republican National Convention is being packed in advance for "me and my policies." Whether Knox or Fairbanks can arrange with the negroes who hold no office to come up with contesting delegations is another matter, but as Knox will have the steel trust back of him there will be ample means to finance the delegates. Judging by the past, there will be contests, for a lively fight in a Republican National Convention means "forty acres and a mule" to those who are seated as delegates. But someone must first "pay the freight" to Chicago or Cincinnati, or wherever the convention is held.

Timber owners and manufacturers will be interested in the results of the detailed studies of commercial timber trees which the Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture is making. These studies are not confined exclusively to the well-known trees of recognized value, but, owing to the rapid decrease in the supply of our valuable woods, include those cheaper woods whose properties are imperfectly known. Such studies of the tupelo gum and Western hemlock have done much to overcome the common prejudice against these species and have added materially to their commercial importance. Commercial tree studies begin with the tree in the forest and follow it all the way to the finished product in the market.

It's like meeting an old friend to see The Ocala Daily Banner on our editorial desk again. The Banner was not received at this office for the past two weeks.

DR. STROUSE ENDORSED.

The Asheville (N. C.) Citizen of August 29th says:

A long distance message from Hendersonville to The Citizen last night stated that Dr. Len Broughton, a prominent preacher of Atlanta who was scheduled to deliver a lecture there yesterday and last night at the Anti-Strouse Chautauqua which is being held in the opera house, refused to speak after the manager had refused to allow him to explain his position in regard to the fight of the rival companies.

Dr. Broughton, it seems, made a statement to the manager of the Anti-Strouse aggregation that he would go on the platform and explain, before his lecture, that his presence on this platform was not to be construed as an endorsement of the stories or the opposition to Dr. Strouse. He told them that he would say that he had known Mr. Strouse for years, that he had prayed with him, that he had slept with him, that he had joked with him, and that he had known him and his family intimately for years, and that he believed him to be a pure man. The manager immediately refused him the privilege of making an explanation before his lecture, and Dr. Broughton immediately called his contract off with the manager, left the opera house, walked down to the Strouse Chautauqua in the auditorium building, where he went on the platform, explained his position and eulogized Dr. Strouse highly. The audience applauded him and rose and requested that he speak for them again tonight. There were present at the Strouse Chautauqua about six or seven hundred people, one of the largest crowds that has ever attended a Chautauqua in Hendersonville.

Dr. Broughton, it seems, knew nothing about the state of affairs at Hendersonville, and expressed himself as being very sorry to find such conditions existing.

The trial of the case against Dr. Strouse has been postponed until September 15th, at which time the Doctor's friends confidently predict that he will put his enemies to flight.

WHY WE IMPORT COTTON.

In the fiscal year ended June 30, 1907, says The Wall Street Journal, the United States imported nearly $20,000,000 worth of raw cotton. This fact shows how intimate the commercial relations of this country have become with Egypt, whence nearly all of this import of over 105,000,000 pounds was derived. It shows, too, that we are paying over 19 cents a pound for the fibre, while that of our growth is exported at an average of 10.7 cents.

The reason lies in the fact that our uplands have practically ceased to grow the longer staple variety for which spinners are willing to pay the better price and which now goes partly to Egypt and to the lowlands of the Mississippi River plantations.

Sooner or later the spinners will begin to have more to say about the cotton staple, just as the beet sugar manufacturer now dictates the standard of sugar-bearing beets that he will accept from the farmer. When that time comes it will do away with much that now passes by suffrance under the name of farming.

GOLD ON FARMS.

The Southern Farm Magazine of Baltimore, for September, says there is much actual gold still to be discovered in the South, but the cotton grown annually by that section is worth far more than all the gold and silver produced in the world in the same time. Between 1901 and 1906, for instance, the total value of the world's gold and silver output was $2,606,686,400, and the total value of the cotton crop of the South, including seed, in the same period was $3,600,000,000, a difference in favor of cotton in the six years of $1,062,313,600. The total value of the corn, wheat and oats raised in the South in the ten years from 1897 to 1906 was more than $3,000,000,000. These figures indicate that the men who are raising the cotton to clothe and the corn to feed the gold and silver miners have the advantage over the latter. Plowing for gold is still much more profitable than digging for gold.

REDUCED RAILROAD RATES.

The question of railroad rates, either fixed by the States on transportation within the State or fixed by the United States on interstate business, must eventually come before the United States Supreme Court on the question of constitutionality. The pressing issue is whether the rate reductions shall go into effect at once, or by injunctions issued by the lower Federal courts be postponed until each case is reached and is decided by the highest court. This matter of the railroads being able to take advantage of all law's delays was the contention of the Democrats when the railroad rate bill was being discussed in the Senate, and the Culberson amendment, which the Republicans defeated, was intended to cure that defect in the law. Regarding the same delay under State legislation the question is one of State rights, and whether the reduced rates can be held up by injunction of an inferior Federal court issued by a judge in evident sympathy with the railroads, when the natural order of procedure would be that the case should go to the State supreme court and thence to the United States Supreme Court. In the North Carolina cases the railroads were forced by Governor Glenn to acknowledge the supremacy of State courts and the reduced rate has already gone into effect.

CUT DOWN THE WEEDS.

The grass plats provided for by city ordinance in several sections of the city have been permitted to grow up in weeds several feet high, and in some sections the weeds have even been permitted to cover the granolithic sidewalks. This is particularly true of the south side of Liberty street, between Sixth street and the University grounds. In some places only a path resembling a cow trail is now visible. It is the duty of those who have paid for these walks and grass plats to keep them up, and if they will not do so the city should compel them to. It not only adds to the value and beauty of the property, but it is a duty due the city and themselves.

No property owner who takes any pride in the city should permit such condition to exist, especially on the street leading to the University.

Dispatches from Tokio announce that the government there has just received the report of the commission sent to investigate the killing of the Japanese seal poachers on the island of St. Paul about a year ago, that the report is an entire exculpation of the poachers who were more sinned against than sinning, and—most remarkable of all—that the Japanese Government has made representation to the State Department looking to reparation. This is one of the most remarkable announcements that has ever emanated from Tokio, a place whence remarkable announcements are not uncommon. The truth of the matter is that the first secretary of the Japanese Embassy in Washington was sent to St. Paul immediately after the Japanese seal poachers were killed there, and he reported to his government that the Japanese were wholly in the wrong and that if they had not been ashore stealing sealskins they would never have been killed. At least that is what he told our Secretary of State that he reported. His report was never made public by the Japanese Government. Since then the Japanese public has been looking for some sort of a government announcement on the subject, and now they have it. The dispatch says that the Japanese people are awaiting the outcome with intense interest. What outcome their government can expect is a little hard to see.

It was reported that Judge Landis had completely broken down after the strain of imposing that $29,000,000 fine on the Standard Oil Company, but the latest reports from his fishing skiff indicate that the fine did not worry him more than it did John D.

A report from the Northwest declares that an Indian there killed himself because his mother-in-law would not come and live with him. This sounds like a case of nature faking that should make Dr. Long go out of business.

A Georgia scientist predicts that the world is about to dry up. That's where the Georgia scientist agrees with the Georgia Colonels—only the latter name the date: after January 1st.

Inspectors of the Patent office are reported to have gone to Pennsylvania to look into a remarkable engine that is said to be working regularly there. If the device is all it is reported to be at the Patent office it will go a long way toward solving the fuel problem. The inventor has utilized the principle of the solar engine that has been working for a couple of years in Southern California. He has built a sort of hot-house frame in the ground and has filled this with a coil of black pipe, black absorbing heat rays better than any other color. This pipe runs to a small engine, thence to a condenser and in a closed circuit back to the glass covered frame. But instead of filling his pipe coil with water, the engineer has filled it with ether which, as everyone knows, boils at a very low temperature, and he uses the pressure thus generated to run his engine. The ether passing into the condenser, all of it is saved and used again and again. The inventor does not claim that his engine will run on cloudy days, but he does say that throughout the year he can get almost as much power out of it as out of the California solar engine, and that it is much cheaper to build.

Walter Wellman, the arctic explorer who is going to try reaching the North Pole in an airship, is about ready to start from Spitsbergen, from the exact spot where the fearless but foolhardy Andree and his two companions started almost ten years ago. In the time that has intervened aerial navigation has made great strides. Andree ascended in an ordinary baloon, trusting to drift over the Pole, and was never heard of again. Mr. Wellman has a well equipped airship that he can drive and steer, and provisions for ten months. The chances are all in favor of his at least coming back to tell why he did not go all the way. Possibly he will make the whole journey, and if so the crown of arctic achievement will belong to the United States for all time. It is a hazardous venture into the unknown by an untried route. He naturally has the good wishes of all people who love a game man. A month's time ought to record either his success or his failure. Meantime the best that can be done is to wish him well.

Speaking of suitable persons for railroad commissioner, there is a man right here in Gainesville who would without doubt make the best member of that body that has ever been elected, or even mentioned for the office. We refer to W. B. Taylor, of the Baird Hardware Company. His business has called him before the commission on several occasions when he had to combat the best talent of railroad companies, but victory has each time crowned his efforts to get a reduced rate of freight on articles which he demonstrated to the commission were being discriminated against. The agents of the transportation companies had rather contend against any man in the State before the railroad commission than W. B. Taylor of Gainesville. Each time he has met the enemy in combat they have gone down in defeat before his just and indisputable array of facts and figures.

Dr. Kelley requests The Sun to state that all applicants for the examination must bring pen, ink and paper, and a dollar for entrance fee, which is required by law.

JUDGE STRINGFELLOW'S DEATH.

Account of This Sad Event Taken from The Fernandina Record.

The Sun of a recent issue contained mention of the death of Judge R. H. Stringfellow, which occurred at Fernandina, but was unable to secure any of the particulars, hence the following reference to this sad event, which appeared in the current number of The Fernandina Record, will prove of interest to friends of the family in this section:

"Judge R. H. Stringfellow died in this city Saturday night at 7 o'clock, of locomotor ataxy, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. O. LaFontisee.

"Judge Stringfellow came here with his wife several weeks ago, from his home at Hawthorn, hoping that the change of climate would prove beneficial. For the first few days he appeared to revive, and relatives had hopes for his ultimate recovery.

"During the last week that he was here there was, however, no hopes entertained. The body was prepared for burial by Mrs. Rogers, and was carried to Hawthorn, where the interment took place Sunday afternoon.

"Judge Stringfellow was a native of Chester county, S. C., but had been residing in this State ever since the civil war. He was a prominent citizen of Alachua county, and a prominent Odd Fellow and Mason. The local lodge of Masons of Hawthorn had charge of the funeral.

"The deceased leaves a widow and nine children, Mrs. M. W. Hogan of Waldo, Mrs. J. O. LaFontisee of this city, and Miss Ella Stringfellow of Hawthorn.

"Judge Stringfellow was a Confederate veteran, having been the youngest member of Captain Wylie's company of Chester, S. C."

Among those who spent the past month at Daytona Beach was Miss Maggie Brooks of this city, who returned to her home Friday. Friends are delighted to welcome her again.

S. A. Ledbetter has returned from a visit to his relatives in Troy and Montgomery, Ala., and is accompanied by his niece, Miss Myrtle Reynolds of Troy, who will be his guest for several months.

Friends of Mrs. Shawl, North Gainesville, will be gratified to learn that her condition is very much improved. Mrs. Shawl has been suffering with typhoid fever for the past three weeks.

T. E. McDonald and family of Rocky Point, who have been recuperating at Daytona Beach for the past few weeks, have returned to their home. They report a fine outing, which proved very beneficial.

Sam M. Davis has returned to this city from North Carolina, where he spent a few days with his family. Mr. Davis left here about six weeks ago for points in British Honduras, spending some time there on business.

John Holly of Arredondo was in the city yesterday. Mr. Holly is a merchant of that thriving village, and is also a member of the board of trustees of the Arredondo school, which is one of the best of its grade in the county.

J. B. Brooks, proprietor of the Gainesville Bottling Works, is one of the most energetic young men of the city, and always believes in keeping everything with which he is connected up to date. Mr. Brooks' latest acquisition is a handsome delivery wagon.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. R. Carter have returned from an extended visit, a great deal of their time being spent in Atlanta, Ga., and points in North Carolina. They spent the night here Friday, proceeding to Micanopy yesterday. They report a most delightful outing.

M. J. Cannon has arrived in the city from Ocala, and will make this his future home. He is a practical bicycle man, and has opened a shop in the Williams block, West Main street N. Mr. Cannon is a clever young man, and will no doubt enjoy a fine business here.

Geo. P. Morris, who for the past year or more has been associated with W. R. Dow in the insurance business on West Main street N., has moved into the new Graham building, where he has fitted up fine offices. Mr. Morris has made quite a success in insurance work here.

N. A. Callison, manager of the Spring Park Stock Farm Company, was transacting business in the city yesterday. Mr. Callison has secured the services of Dr. Guerrant of McIntosh, a veterinarian of note, who will take charge of the cattle and assist him in the affairs about the farm. Dr. and Mrs. Guerrant have already arrived, and are pleasantly located at the farm.

O. G. Barker of Lottieville was among the West End people who paid the county metropolis a visit yesterday. He reports crops good, with the exception of cotton, throughout his section. The cotton yield will be from 25 to 30 per cent short, but the quality will average up well.

Mrs. R. Wilson has an advertisement in this issue, in which she calls attention to the fact that her buyer is now in New York, where he is selecting a fine stock for fall and winter. Suitable goods for fall and school wear will be in soon. Mrs. Wilson is closing out all summer fabrics at prices which cannot help but attract, and invites the public to call and see the bargains.

Elder H. V. Skipper of Jasper, the popular pastor of the Advent Christian church at that place, returned to his home yesterday, after spending three days at the quarterly conference of the church here. Elder Skipper is a pleasing and impressive speaker, and those who heard him preach here were deeply impressed. He delivered the closing sermon of the conference.

A MUSICAL RECITAL.

Signor Carlo Mora Will Appear at Methodist Church Wednesday.

The people of Gainesville will have the opportunity of a delightful musical treat in the piano recital to be given next Wednesday evening at the Methodist church by Signor Carlo Mora, director of music in the Methodist College at Sutherland, Fla.

Dr. J. P. Hilburn, president of the college, and Professor Mora, are visiting the prominent places in the State in the interest of the college. Their purpose is to bring the work of this institution prominently before the people of the State. Signor Mora, is a graduate of the great Milan Conservatory of Music, and is a master whose superior as a musician would be hard to find anywhere.

This is what The Tampa Tribune says of the recital given there last April: "Signor Carlo Mora, director of the musical department of the College, appeared in his first recital Saturday evening. To say that he captivated his audience is putting it mildly. A large assembly gathered and were charmed and thrilled through and through by the masterful playing of Prof. Mora."

No admission will be charged to this recital. All are cordially invited to come and enjoy it.

AN EXCITING RUNAWAY.

Horse of Sam T. Dell Ran Away, Throwing Occupant from Buggy.

There was an exciting runaway on the east side of the square Friday, which resulted in a narrow escape for Sam T. Dell, owner of the horse.

Mr. Dell was driving the animal, which is a spirited one, without blinds, and the horse became frightened, making a sudden dash. Turning the corner into East Union street, he was running madly, when the buggy came in contact with a tree, throwing Mr. Dell out and breaking away the shafts.

Fortunately Mr. Dell "lit" right, and sustained only slight injury. The greatest damage was the breaking of a single-tree, which was repaired in a short time.

South Gainesville Improvements.

South Gainesville is improving with other sections of the city, as the good people who own property and reside in that section are determined to keep up with the times.

Among other improvements contemplated in South Gainesville, and upon which work will begin at once, is a five-room cottage which will be erected by Mrs. H. H. McCreary and an addition of three rooms and a hall to the residence of R. B. Peeler.

August Wemske has the contract for both jobs, and will proceed at once.

Stogies High in Alaska.

Henry Quong, the young Chinaman who was here in the capacity of interpreter at the time C. W. Chase had so many of the Celestials employed, writes a friend in this city from Funda Bay, Alaska, where he is now stopping.

The message was an interesting one, and among other things Quong took occasion to state that smoking came rather expensive in Alaska, an ordinary "stogie" selling for twenty-five to fifty cents.

ONE MONTH OLD TODAY.

WILL MAKE BIG IMPROVEMENTS.

The Interior of the Dutton Bank Will Be Greatly Improved.

The management of the Dutton Bank, with a desire to keep up with the march of progress along other lines, has decided to make extensive improvements in the building owned and occupied by that institution, and in a few weeks the work will begin.

It is the intention of the bank to fit the interior of the place in an absolutely up-to-date manner, including every modern bank fixture.

The exterior of the building will also be changed to some extent. The stairway leading to the offices on the second floor will be transferred to the outside of the building, leading from the street on the east side, which will afford more room on the interior. In all, the improvements will make a great change, and President Thomas assures the public that there will be nothing finer in the State when the work is completed.

INJURY TO MR. KING.

Popular Engineer on A. C. L. Sustained Injury in Shop.

Engineer H. H. King of the Atlantic Coast Line, running between High Springs and Rochelle, had the misfortune while on duty Saturday to sustain a wrenched back, caused by working the reverse lever of his locomotive.

Mr. King was suffering so greatly when he reached Gainesville that he was taken from his engine, and is now at the Odd Fellows' Sanitarium, where his physician states he will be incapacitated for some time.

COTTON CROP SHORT BUT PROSPECT FINE

The Quality Will Probably Make Up the Difference in Shortage.

GINS ARE NOT YET RUNNING

Labor in the Fields is Scarce, and Farmers Are Having Difficulty in Many Instances in Gathering the Staple—Crop About One-Third Short.

While the cotton fields are white with the heavy staple and the farmers are busy gathering it in, there has yet been few of the gins of the county put in operation, as the growers in many instances want to secure enough of the staple in the seed in advance so that they will not be compelled to close down after they have started operations.

Notwithstanding that the crop throughout the county this year will be about one-third short, it is difficult to secure labor, as several of the farmers have reported. If the crop was all the staple would probably have to out in the field on this account, as laborers are loathed to leave the fields to work in new mills and would rather picnic by an offer of what they consider a larger salary.

Reports from various sections of the county, representing the four corners, state that, while the crop will be short, the quality this year promises to be A No. 1, with a result that all values will be good. While the weather conditions have been adverse to a full crop, they have been very favorable to the quality, which will in a great measure make up the difference.

There has only been ginned in Alachua county this season so far about a dozen bales of cotton; but the farmers who have been picking and ginning a small cotton have a considerable amount stored, and the various ginneries will open up with activity within the next few days.

A Pleasant Evening.

There was a social given by Mrs. Samuel Pinkoss Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Lena Turlinsky of Jacksonville, who is visiting Miss Edna Pinkoss.

The evening was passed with various games, delicious refreshments being served, and all present expressed their delight to their hostess for the pleasant event.

A GUEST.

Jolly Gainesville Crowd.

A jolly crowd of Gainesville people, about twenty in number, who are sojourning at Daytona Beach, made a delightful trip Tuesday of the present week to the light-house on Mosquito Inlet, about twenty miles distant.

The party spent the day at Mosquito Inlet, taking their lunch with them, and those who went report a delightful time.

WINE OF CARDUI

SERMONETTES

BY J. MARVIN NICHOLS

Are you facing the wrong way?

Try—but don't try the wrong thing.

A drone in a hive is sure to get stung.

The world is waiting for the man who knows.

He who sees only the seamy side of life is already dead.

Yesterday is dead—there may never be any tomorrow for you.

A merchant has no more right to bulldoze than he has to dose.

Misdirected ambition—inevitable failure; that's the tragedy of life.

As the exactions of conscience the possibilities of happiness decrease.

A rapturous kiss, the wedding bells, a ———, no more women's clubs.

Ambition to reach a given goal carries with it the capacity to attain that end.

Set your mark so high that if you please yourself others must be pleased.

Excitement, worry and hurry—the deadly foes to longevity. These are the murder-mills.

The intellectual development of a nation is to be estimated by the value it puts on human life.

Most men are mongamists because each woman firmly believes in having one husband. At least, theoretically.

Success lies as much in discovering things one cannot do as it does in finding those things possible in their attainment.

"Honesty is the best policy"—I don't believe that, always. When honesty gets to be a policy it ceases to be any longer a principle. See?

Some folks are with their religion just like a kid with a big fire cracker. When it begins to sizzle they don't know what to do with it.

When Socrates said he didn't believe it possible for a good man to be injured by a worse he couldn't see this far down the ages.

Does reading make the man? If so, we'll read these long-drawn-out murder trials until we unconsciously make heroes out of thugs and bums.

Just as long as two blades of grass—one taller than the other—spring from the same seed, that long will there be men who tower above their fellows.

One generation must start where the other stops. Thus are we to be forever approaching that far-off, divine event toward which the whole creation moves.

I have noted some very strange things in the ebb and flow of the nation's great financial heart. Adversity causes men to combine their interests; prosperity somehow leads men to individualism.

Cliffor Greve spoke truly when he said that cowardice is the millstone around most men's necks. The majority of the people are laboring at their present tasks because they are afraid to try to do anything else.

The widespread unrest in the conjugal relations of the country has at least one very sane explanation. However happy the marriage, when it deliberately fails to complete itself in love's crowning annunciation, then forever thereafter it can have no sublimer reach than the intensest friendship. Say, do you understand?

Napoleon is said to have carried the lives of Alexander the Great, Hannibal and Ghenghis Khan with him in all his wonderful military engagements. On the battlefield he used them for his pillow. And he became even greater than his models. No life with a low ideal can even attain the full measure of power and beauty.

On a sun-dial which stands on the pier at Brighton words are inscribed: "'Tis always morning somewhere in the world." Why grow weary of life when the clouds swing low? The morning sun will drive the mists away. Breezes, richly freighted with the breath of flowers, will come to us again. We shall forget the chill and damp of these low levels. Gird yourself for the fight to the distant hills that lie beyond the valley.

The important question is not whether opportunity knocks once, as Senator Ingalls said, or whether it knocks several times in the course of a life-time, as many able critics of the poem assert. It is, however, of the greatest importance whether the young business man is prepared to grasp the opportunity when it does come. In order to "reach every state mortals desire and conquer every foe save death," youth must be prepared to receive opportunity every single time it knocks.

When pains or irritation exist on any part of the body, the application of Ballard's Snow Liniment gives prompt relief. E. W. Sullivan, Prop. Sullivan House, El Reno, O. It is the only remedy I have found that gives immediate relief." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

FISH AND HARAHAN

Railroad Magnates Have Encounter at Directors' Meeting.

HOT WORDS WERE PASSED

Former President of the Illinois Central and the Present Head of the System, Disagree About Adjournment of Meeting.

New York, Aug. 30.—Stuyvesant Fish, former president and at present a member of the board of directors of the Illinois Central railroad, declined to comment in any way on the personal encounter between himself and James T. Harahan, the present head of the system, at a meeting of the board of directors in this city.

The trouble between Mr. Fish and his successor at the head of the big railroad system arose when Mr. Fish attempted to get before the board a resolution which, in effect, demanded a complete investigation of the administration of the company since the elevation of Mr. Harahan to the presidency.

The reading of the resolution was interrupted by motions calling for an immediate adjournment of the meeting, and despite the protests of Mr. Fish that he had a right to be heard to the end, the motion was declared carried. President Harahan arose with the other directors and prepared to leave the room, but Mr. Fish protested that the action was illegal.

"You can't adjourn in the middle of business," he said. "It is contrary to all parliamentary proceedure. It is an unheard of breach of courtesy to interpose a motion to adjourn in the middle of a director's remarks. I insist that the meeting is not adjourned, and I shall proceed with my resolution."

"The meeting stands adjourned," retorted President Harahan across the table.

"But it is not adjourned!" Fish replied hotly. "You are tools of Harriman and puppets"—

"You're a liar!" said Harahan, springing to his feet.

An instant later the big ex-president had reached across the table, grasped his successor by the arm and shoved him back into his chair. Then the other members of the board rushed in, separating the two men, and pushed them out and away by separate routes.

FLED FROM THEIR HOMES.

Villagers in Pennsylvania in Danger from Landslide.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 29.—With their houses creaking, windows breaking and chimneys sinking deep into the earth, several hundred foreigners have fled from their homes in Port Vue, a southside suburb, fearing death in a landslide which threatens to bury Scott streets' twenty-five dwellings.

One hundred yards below the Pittsburg and Lake Erie railroad company recently started to make a cut for additional tracks. The earth between the cut and the hillside on which the houses stand, is underlaid with soft shale and soapstone.

This whole mass is slowly slipping toward the cut.

During the twenty-four hours the cut for one hundred yards, with its trees, dropped 300 feet below its original level, bursting gas and water mains and leaving half the village without light or fire protection.

Three hundred men are at work frantically endeavoring to check the landslide, while crowds of hysterical women and children watch the proceedings of the men at work.

Quarrel Ends in Tragedy.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 30.—Tom Summerall, a boilermaker, was shot and killed Wednesday by W. H. Hunter, another boilermaker, as a result of a quarrel Tuesday night. They had been together all day, the presumption being that their fight of the night before had been settled. However, shortly after 3 o'clock they were drinking together, when Hunter pulled his pistol and shot his companion five times, producing instant death. Hunter is in jail.

Leading Question.

An exchange tells of a literary society that is in the hands of a receiver, and the leading question is, "Is he thankful for what he is about to receive?"

The Truth of It.

This here is the gospel
An' I bet you it'll do;
Life in the old land
If there's any life in you!

His Small Needs.

"How are you progressing in a literary way?"

"Fine! All I need for my new novel is a name, a publisher, and enough to live on until it's finished."

The Birds and Bells.

We hear the birds a-singin'
O'er meadows that are bright;
An' all the bells are ringin'
An' the World's
All
Right!

Brother Dickey's Sayings.

De folks what loves dey neighbor as deyse'f is mostly in de dime museums an' you got ter pay ter see 'um.

Sometimes day runs de devil out er one community only ter make it hot fer de folks in de next settlement.

It's a good idea ter keep in de middle er de road, an' yit dar's some risk er de dust blindin' you, as some folks is mighty fond er raisin' de dust.

Can't Be Always Bright.

I.

De dark day, my honey,
But can't be always bright;
But all de time de lily
Is dreamin' er de light.

II.

De dark day, ma honey,
But shadders soon is gone;
Dar's a winder in de dark cloud—
De sunshing's comin' on!

"Genius is work," says W. D. Howells, and The Billville Banner adds: "Yes; and frequently for one dollar a day!"

How He Argued It.

This is a Georgia youngster's idea of it:

"The thunder is Maw readin' a lecture to Paw, and the lightnin' is Paw tryin' to git away from it."

Hearing of the proposed spelling reform, the Billville brother said:

"Thank the Lord, I never could spell nohow, so I don't care what they do with it!"

The greatest grief of the millionaire is that he can't live long enough to give away all the money he has made.

This whirling old world never has time to turn round and look at the growlers; and yet they think the world is listening to them all the time!

A Billville editor has this weather note:

"We have been having beautiful weather, and the days are so still and peaceful that we can hear the steps of the baliff coming to levy on us a mile off!"

"A man can't whistle when he's unhappy," says a Georgia exchange, "but it goes without saying that whistling makes many people think they're as happy as jaybirds in springtime."

"Mighty Well."

In spite of summer sunshine
An' many a rainy spell,
We alius feel like sayin'
"We're doin' mighty well!"
The great, green world around us—
There's just this news to tell:
"The seed will come to harvest—
We're doin' mighty well!"

"After all," says The Whitsett Courier, "the world's rolling right. Were it not, some of us would be rolling decidedly wrong."

The Dream of Life.

Life is a dream,
But I'll tell you, my honey,
Still in the dream
You have got to find money!
The great, green world around us—
There's just this news to tell:
"The seed will come to harvest—
We're doin' mighty well!"

A Georgia darky who had no lawyer was told by the judge that he "would get justice." Whereupon he exclaimed: "Good Lawd! Dat means ten years!"

A Georgia county boasted of a moonshiner who was only fifteen years old. This was too young, so the Government stepped in and gave him two years more.

How He Pulled Through.

"While sleeping on the railroad track," says The Billville Banner, "one of his legs was cut off below the knee that had the rheumatism in it, but he received enough damages out of the road to buy a cork leg and a first-class piano.

His Thunder Song.

During a recent thunder-storm an old darky was going along, singing of the lightning:

"Here comes the devil,
Flashin' of his eyes,
Mad kaze de righteous
Is gwine ter de skies!"

Word from Bre'r Williams.

"De reason some folks don't want ter go ter heaven is kase it looks so high dey 'fraid dey'll git dizzy an' tumble 'fo' dey gits dar."

The humble things of life are the sweetest after all, but we're never satisfied without the great things.

CITY FREE DELIVERY.

The Route Will Be Extended if Proper Regulations Are Completed.

When the edition of Burts' Gainesville Directory for 1907-8, which is now being compiled, is completed, Postmaster L. C. Lynch states that the postoffice department will be ready to extend the system of free mail delivery, provided the city will install the proper lights and walks, as required by the department.

Since the last directory was published the city limits have been extended in every direction, and the new directory will contain many new names not included in the current number on that account.

The publisher of the directory is taking in all this territory and numbering the houses, hence it is up to the city to do its share if they desire the mail delivery service extended.

Many Immigrants Expected.

Savannah, Ga., Aug. 29.—Director of Immigration John J. Betjman says that within thirty days the first really considerable body of foreign emigrants will be landed in Georgia. Just how many are to come and the exact date of their arrival, Mr. Betjman was not readyy to say, bue he announced that there would be enough to prove to the state that the emigrationists are in earnest about bringing in new citizens. The steamer will land the emigrants at Savannah, and from this port they will be distributed through Georgia.

She Found Relief.

If you are troubled with liver complaint and have not received help read this. Mrs. Mary E. Hammond, Moody, Texas: "I was in poor health—with liver trouble—for over a year. Doctors did me no good and I tried Herbine, and three bottles cured me. I can't say too much for Herbine, as it is a wonderful liver medicine. I always have it in the house. Publish where you wish."
